

Education & Training

Information Skills courses

The Library and Knowledge Service runs regular Information Skills courses in accessing electronic journals, copyright awareness, literature searching and critical appraisal. Trust staff have access to a range of self-paced Information Skills e-learning courses available via www.e-lfh.org.uk. For more information please visit the education and training page on EVE or contact library@bwnft.nhs.uk ☎ 0121 623 6654

Education via YouTube

The Library and Knowledge Service has a YouTube Channel where you can view journal club presentations and other educational content for example videos explaining how to set up an OpenAthens account. There are also links to training videos from a range of sources on topics such as searching NHS databases & PubMed and links to other useful YouTube channels.

Journal Club Wiki

The Journal Club Wiki provides access to information about journal club and other educational activities at Birmingham Women's NHS Foundation Trust. You may also access the Journal Club Handbook and presentations.